2. How super works

Super is a compulsory way of saving for retirement. Most working Australians receive super contributions as part of their pay. These are called Superannuation Guarantee (SG) contributions and are paid by your employer.

Super is designed to be a long-term investment that grows with contributions and any investment earnings – minus fees, costs and other charges.

1. Other fees and costs apply. See the Fees and costs section of this PDS to learn more.
2. Source: SuperRatings Accumulation Fund Crediting Rate Survey – SR50 MySuper Index, June 2025. Past performance is not a reliable indicator of future performance and should never be the sole factor considered when selecting a superannuation fund.
3. Awards and ratings are only one factor to be taken into consideration when choosing a super fund. Visit hostplus.com.au/awards for awards criteria and disclaimers.

The government has made super a tax-effective way to save to encourage Australians to build their retirement savings. It's generally more tax-effective than many other types of investments.

Growing your super

You can grow your super through different types of contributions, including:

- SG contributions paid by your employer.
- Transferring super into your account from another fund (called a 'rollover').
- Voluntary personal contributions, which can be:
 - After tax, from your take-home pay or savings, called non-concessional contributions.
 - Before tax, generally through salary sacrifice from your before-tax pay. These are called concessional contributions and are taxed at 15%. For most people this is a lower tax rate than their marginal tax rate, so it can be a good way of growing your super while also paying less income tax.
- Government co-contributions, where the government matches your non-concessional contributions up to $500 p.a. if you're an eligible low or middle-income earner.
- Spouse contributions, where your spouse can make contributions to your super if certain conditions are met.

These are just some of the different types of super contributions that can be made. We explain these and other contribution types in the How Super Works Guide.

Contribution limits

It's important to know that there are government-set contribution limits. If you exceed these limits, you may pay more tax. The How Super Works Guide explains these limits, and you can also learn more in the How super is taxed section of this PDS.

You can keep track of contributions to your Hostplus account by logging into our secure Member Online service at Member Online or by downloading our app. If you have more than one super fund, you can also monitor your overall contributions through the Australian Taxation Office's (ATO's) Online Services if you have a linked MyGov account.

Accessing your super

Super is designed to provide income in retirement, so you generally can't access it until you turn 60. There are some circumstances when you may be able to access it early, such as if you're terminally ill, permanently disabled, or experiencing severe financial hardship. Under family law, your super may be split with your spouse if you separate. You might also be able to access personal super contributions through the government First Home Super Saver Scheme, if you're eligible.

Staying with us, wherever life takes you

Most people can choose their preferred super fund, so if you change jobs you can stay with us. You may need to let your new employer know by completing a 'standard choice form'. Your account also offers flexibility as you transition to retirement and retire, and when you're eligible, you can access your super through your account or a Hostplus Retirement Account. Read about our Retirement Account options at hostplus.com.au/retirement

You should read the important information about How Super Works before making a decision. Go to the How Super Works Guide at hostplus.com.au/pds. 5. Other fees and costs apply. Refer to the Fees and costs summary. 8. Eligibility conditions apply.

4. Risks of super

Super is a tax-effective way to save for retirement, but it's important to know that – like all investments – it carries risk.

Investment risks

Our Investment options are designed to suit different preferences, timeframes and risk appetites, and include diversified and sector options, as well as access to the separate Choiceplus investment menu. Investment options generally include a mix of different assets:

- Defensive assets include cash and bonds. These are lower risk, but generally provide lower investment returns over the long term.
- Growth assets include Australian shares and private equity. These are higher risk, but generally provide higher returns over the long term.

You should understand that:

- Our investment options have different levels of risk, depending on the assets they invest in, and the value of your investments can go up and down.
- Your investment returns will vary, and returns aren't guaranteed. Returns can be positive or negative, and negative returns will mean your account balance goes down and you might lose some of your money.
- Assets with the highest long-term returns may also carry the highest level of short-term risk.
- Past investment performance isn't a reliable indicator of future performance.
- We might discontinue or change an investment option.
- Being too cautious with your investment choices can mean your super might not grow enough to keep pace with the cost of living.
- Your super balance at retirement (including contributions and investment returns) might not meet your expectations or be enough for your retirement.

You can learn more about our investment options, as well as investment risks, minimum suggested investment timeframes, and likelihood of negative returns in the Investment Guide available at

hostplus.com.au/pds

Other risks

Other significant risks to your super include inflation, changing interest and exchange rates, liquidity and derivative risks, and market failure. There are also risks related to any changes made to superannuation and insurance laws, or tax changes affecting super and investments.

What's your risk appetite?

The level of risk that's right for you will depend on your age, how long you're investing for, how comfortable you are with low or negative investment returns in some years, your retirement goals and lifestyle, and whether you have investments outside super.

You should read the important information about How Super Works for more detail about risks of super before making a decision. Go to the How Super Works Guide at hostplus.com.au/pds. The material relating to How Super Works may change between the time when you read this Statement and the day when you acquire the product. Always visit our website for the latest information.

5. How we invest your money

Our members all have unique lives, goals and preferences. That's why we offer a range of investment options, designed to give you choice and flexibility.

The right investment choices for you depend on your personal circumstances, which may change over time. You need to consider the length of time you expect your super to be invested for, your preferences and risk appetite, and your comfort with making investment choices.

You can choose your investment options when you apply to join the Plan and change your options throughout your membership. If you don't make an investment choice, you'll be invested in our default Balanced (MySuper) option.

If you need help choosing, we can help. You can access the SuperSmart digital advice and education tool at no cost through Member Online for expert tips, insights, and personal investment choice guidance. If you'd like more tailored investment advice, our in-house financial planners can help (fees apply).⁹

6. Fees and costs

! Did you know?

Small differences in both investment performance and fees and costs can have a substantial impact on your long-term returns.

For example, total annual fees and costs of 2% of your account balance rather than 1% could reduce your final return by up to 20% over a 30-year period (for example, reduce it from $100,000 to $80,000).

You should consider whether features such as superior investment performance or the provision of better member services justify higher fees and costs.

You or your employer, as applicable, may be able to negotiate to pay lower fees. Ask the Fund or your financial adviser.

To find out more

If you would like to find out more, or see the impact of the fees based on your own circumstances, the Australian Securities and Investments Commission (ASIC) Moneysmart website (www.moneysmart.gov.au) has a superannuation calculator to help you check out different fee options.

Please note: This statement is prescribed by law. Hostplus fees are not negotiable.

This section gives you a summary of the fees and costs you may be charged for the Balanced (MySuper) option. Other fees and costs may apply. You can use the fees and costs summary to compare costs between different super products.

Fees and costs are either deducted directly from your account, from investment returns before they're applied to your account, or from the assets of the Fund as a whole. You can learn more about different types of fees and costs such as administration fees, investment fees and costs and advice fees in the Fees and Costs Guide, and should read this information because it is important to understand their impact on your investment. You can find the full Fees and Costs Guide at hostplus.com.au/pds

7. How super is taxed

Super is designed to be a tax-effective way to save and invest for your retirement. It's important to understand the different types of tax that apply. Here's an overview of the main types of tax, showing when they are charged and how they are paid to the ATO.

You can find more detail in the How Super Works Guide. You should check the Guide and our website for the latest tax information, and the ATO's website at ato.gov.au/super

What's taxed?	How this works
Contributions	Before-tax contributions include your employer's SG contributions, and any salary sacrifice contributions you make. Both come out of your pre-tax pay and are generally taxed at 15%. This tax is deducted from your super account. You may pay a different tax rate if you've exceeded the before-tax contribution limit, or if you are a very low- or high-income earner. After-tax contributions are made using money you've already paid tax on, so they don't get taxed again when paid into super. You will pay more tax if you exceed the after-tax contribution limit.
Investment earnings	Investment earnings on your super are taxed at a maximum rate of 15%. This may be less than 15% after any relevant tax concessions, offsets or credits are applied. This tax is deducted from investment earnings before they're credited to your account.
Withdrawals	Once you've turned age 60, you generally won't pay tax on any withdrawals from your super. Before you turn 60, if you meet a special condition of release^a to access your super, your withdrawals may be taxed. Tax on withdrawals is calculated and withheld for the ATO when your payment is processed.

a. Read more about accessing your super and conditions of release in the How Super Works Guide.

Contribution limits and tax

There are government-set limits on the amount you can contribute to super at favourable tax rates. These are detailed in the How Super Works Guide.

! It's important to keep track of your contributions because if you exceed these limits, you will pay more tax.

Claiming super contributions as a tax deduction

If you're eligible, you may be able to claim your personal contributions as a tax deduction. Learn more in the How Super Works Guide, available at hostplus.com.au/pds

! You should provide your tax file number (TFN) when you join the Plan. You can do this when you apply, or through Member Online or the TFN declaration form available on our website. If you don't provide your TFN, you may pay more tax and might not be able to make certain types of contributions.

You should read the important information about How super is taxed for more detail before making a decision. Go to the How Super Works Guide at hostplus.com.au/pds. The material relating to How super is taxed may change between the time when you read this Statement and the day when you acquire the product. Always visit our website for the latest information.

8. Insurance in your super

Most people know how important it is to have insurance for things that are precious to them, like their car, home and health. Through your membership with us, we offer insurance to cover you and your loved ones in case hard times happen – injury, illness or death.

This insurance is called Income Protection, Total and Permanent Disablement (TPD), Death and Terminal Illness cover and is provided through our Insurer, MetLife. Our size and scale means we can access competitive terms and prices, so it's generally more affordable to have this cover through your super fund compared with going direct.

We summarise the different types of cover in this PDS, but recommend you read the detail in the Insurance in Your Super Guide, available at hostplus.com.au/pds. The Guide also explains the capitalised terms in this PDS.

When you join us

When you join the Plan, you may be eligible to receive automatic age-based Death and TPD cover without needing to apply if:

- You're aged 25 or older
- Your Hostplus account balance is at least $6,000, and
- Your account is not inactive.*

*Accounts are considered 'inactive' (for the purposes of insurance cover) if we haven't received a contribution or rollover into your account for a continuous period of 16 months, and you haven't made a written request or positive election to always maintain your insurance cover, even if your account becomes inactive.

The amount of cover depends on your age, and the cost depends on the type of cover, your age, Occupational Rating and gender.

You can also apply to opt-in for automatic cover before you meet the conditions above through Member Online. If you apply to opt-in and meet the eligibility requirements, terms and conditions, your automatic cover will start from the date we receive your opt-in request or the date you become eligible (whichever is later).

If you're not sure how much cover you need, you can use our Insurance Calculator at hostplus.com.au/insurance or the SuperSmart digital advice service through Member Online. Alternatively, you can get tailored advice through one of our in-house financial planners (fees apply).

Extra cover options

If eligible, you can also apply for extra cover or different types of cover, including:

- Our Special Insurance Offer of additional Death and TPD cover of 2, 3, or 4 times your automatic age-based cover (if you're eligible for and receive automatic age-based cover) and Income Protection cover of up to $5,000 per month.
- Unlimited Death (including terminal illness) cover, up to $5 million of TPD cover and up to $30,000 per month of IP cover (with underwriting conditions).

What kind of work do you do?

Your level and cost of cover is based on your age, gender and occupation. There are seven 'Occupational Rating' categories: Professional, White Collar, Unknown, Light Blue, Heavy Blue, Special Risk and Ineligible Occupation. If you're in an Ineligible Occupation, you'll only be eligible for automatic age-based Death and TPD cover and cannot apply for the Special Insurance Offer referred to under the Extra cover options section. If we don't know what kind of work you do, your automatic Death and TPD cover will be based on the Unknown Occupational Rating, or the Special Risk Occupation Rating if you're applying for Fixed cover.

Some members will pay lower premiums based on their Occupational Rating. You can let us know your occupation when you join or update it later through Member Online. Learn more in the Insurance in Your Super Guide.

! To access the special offer of 2, 3 or 4 times your automatic age-based Death and TPD cover or up to $5,000 per month of Income Protection cover, you need to apply through Member Online within 60 days of receiving automatic cover.

Automatic Income Protection cover (SalarySafe)

If you're joining Hostplus through an employer who was previously a Club Super Default Employer and you're Actively at Work, you may automatically receive a type of Income Protection cover called SalarySafe, once you are eligible. This is designed to protect your income if you're ill or injured and unable to work in your usual occupation.

SalarySafe pays a benefit of up to 90% of your average weekly income for up to two years, with a default 28-day Waiting Period (though you can adjust the Waiting Period to 30, 60 or 90 days, which will reduce the cost of this cover). SalarySafe benefit payments reduce incrementally after 26 weeks. This cover is not subject to underwriting. The cost of SalarySafe cover is generally based on the value of your employer's SG contribution multiplied by 6.26%.

To check if you're eligible, ask your employer or contact us. If you're eligible, we'll confirm your SalarySafe cover once your employer confirms your details.

If you are not employed by a former Club Super Default Employer, you need to apply for Income Protection cover. It will not be provided to you by default.

Our cover is designed with life in mind

Life happens! Big events in life might mean your financial commitments and insurance needs change. If you take parental leave, you might be eligible to have your insurance premiums waived for up to 12 months. You can also apply for an increase to any existing Death, TPD and Income Protection cover through our special life events offer if:

- You get married

- a. If you're under age 25 or have an account balance below $6,000, you need to opt-in to receive automatic cover.

Paying for your cover

Your insurance premiums will be deducted monthly from your super account. You can keep track of this in Member Online and you will need to maintain a minimum account balance to cover your premiums. If your account balance isn't enough to pay for your premiums, your cover may cease. If you have more than one Hostplus account, you are only eligible for one insurance benefit and duplicate insurance premiums will be refunded.

! You'll keep paying for any insurance you have with us from your super account, unless you actively cancel it.

Changing or cancelling your cover

You can apply to change your cover or cancel it through Member Online or by contacting us. If you cancel your cover, you won't be eligible for automatic Death and TPD cover in future unless you're accepted by the Insurer and satisfy their underwriting requirements. You might also have restrictions on your cover.

Restrictions and exclusions on automatic cover

If you don't meet the eligibility requirements for Full Cover, you may still receive automatic cover as Restricted Cover. This means you'll have cover, but not for any Pre-existing Conditions.¹⁰

After 24 months (if you're not a Claiming Member) you may be eligible for Full Cover if you're Actively Employed for the last 30 consecutive days of the 24-month period. If you're not Actively Employed for the entire 30-day period, your Restricted Cover will continue until you have been Actively Employed for 30 consecutive days. If you are a Claiming Member or want Full Cover during this time, you will need to apply to the Insurer to have the Restricted Cover removed.

10. A Pre-existing Condition means any illness, injury, condition or related symptom you, or any reasonable person in your position, was aware of, or should have been aware of, or had, or was intending to have, or would have had a medical consultation for in the 2 years prior to your cover commencing or recommending.

! You should read the Insurance in Your Super Guide for further details on all eligibility conditions, definitions and exclusions applicable which may affect your entitlement to cover before deciding if this insurance is appropriate for you.

9. How to open an account

You can join the Plan online at hostplus.com.au. Select 'Join' and complete the online application. If you'd prefer to complete and return a membership form, contact us and we'll send you a copy.

Generally, anyone can join Hostplus, as long as you reside in Australia, are an Australian resident for tax purposes, or are employed by an eligible Australian employer. If you reside outside Australia and are not employed by an eligible Australian employer, you're not eligible for membership.

Here's how you can join as either an Employer Sponsored member or a Personal Super Plan member:

An Employer Sponsored member

- The Plan is your employer's chosen super fund and they're a participating employer. If you work for a participating employer, they can register you for the Plan and start making SG contributions for you. If this describes your situation, you don't need to complete a membership form.
- The Plan is the nominated super fund in your employment agreement or award.

- You've requested that your employer becomes a participating employer, or you've requested that your employer makes a contribution on your behalf and your employer is not a participating employer.

A Personal Super Plan member

- You're eligible to choose your preferred super fund (see the ATO's 'choosing a super fund' information at ato.gov.au if you're unsure).
- You're self-employed.
- You're not in paid employment.

Cooling-off period

A 14-day cooling-off period applies for Personal Super Plan applicants. Learn more in the How Super Works Guide at hostplus.com.au/pds

10. Other information

Combining your super

You'll pay fees for every super account you have, so it can make sense to combine and save. You should compare funds and consider the loss of any insurance and other benefits before deciding.

We can search for your other super and help you roll it into your Hostplus account at no cost. If you'd like us to do this, you need to provide consent and your TFN through Member Online. If we find other super for you, you'll have the option to transfer it to your Hostplus account. If you know your other fund's details and want to transfer your balance to us, just enter the details in Member Online and we'll do the rest.

Nominating your beneficiaries

It's important to let us know who you'd like to receive your super and any relevant insurance benefit when you die. You can do this through nominating a beneficiary, and have the choice of a binding or non-binding nomination. Learn more in the How Super Works Guide or submit your nomination through Member Online.

Enquiries and complaints

If you have an enquiry or complaint, call us on 1300 467 875, or use our Live Chat service or email at hostplus.com.au/contact. We'll do everything in our power to resolve your matter promptly and courteously. If you're not happy with the way we handle your matter, please write to us at resolutions@hostplus.com.au, or Hostplus Resolutions Officer, Locked Bag 5046, Parramatta, NSW 2124.

We'll acknowledge complaints within 24 hours (or 1 business day) of receiving them, or as soon as possible, and will provide a resolution to complaints within 45 days for superannuation matters. If there's a delay resolving your complaint, we will contact you within these timeframes to let you know why.

If you're not satisfied with the outcome or the way we handle your complaint, you can contact the Australian Financial Complaints Authority (AFCA). AFCA provides free, fair and independent financial services complaint resolution to our members and their beneficiaries. Although you can contact AFCA at any time, they generally won't deal with your complaint until it has been through our complaints handling process.

You can contact AFCA on 1800 931 678, through its website afca.org.au, in writing via email info@afca.org.au or post: Australian Financial Complaints Authority, GPO Box 3, Melbourne VIC 3001.

Protecting your super

If your balance is under $6,000 and there's no activity on your account for 16 months, we're required to transfer your account to the ATO. You can keep your account active by making a contribution, making changes to your investment options, insurance or beneficiary details, or contacting us to confirm you'd like to keep it open.

Temporary Australian residents

If you're a temporary resident and you permanently leave Australia, you'll have six months to claim your super from us after you leave. After that, we will be obliged to transfer your super to the ATO and you'll need to contact them directly to claim it. Go to ato.gov.au

Under relief from the Australian Securities and Investments Commission, we're not required to give you an exit statement if we transfer your super to the ATO in these circumstances.

Your privacy is important

Your privacy is important to us. You can learn more about the personal information we request, why and how we collect your personal information, and who we may share it with in our Privacy Policy at hostplus.com.au/privacy
